I build lead lists people can actually use

My work combines prospect discovery, qualification, verification and organized tracking. The goal is not more names—it is better research and a cleaner handoff.

FIND Search across social platforms, websites and public sources.	QUALIFY Apply the client's targeting rules before contact.	VERIFY Check profiles, sources, contact details and duplicates.	ORGANIZE Record the result in a clear, repeatable tracker.

CORE SERVICES

Lead Generation & Prospect Research — Targeted prospect sourcing and list building.

Instagram Prospecting & Outreach — Profile research, qualification, DM and follow-up support.

LinkedIn / Apollo Research — Decision-maker research and contact verification.

Email & Contact Research — Public contact research and source checking.

CRM / Spreadsheet Management — Google Sheets, Excel and Monday.com-style tracking.

Quality Control — Duplicate checks, SOP compliance, cleanup and manual QA.

WORK PRINCIPLE

Find* → Qualify → Verify → Organize → Handoff.

Fitness & Instagram prospecting

A structured lead tracker showing profile URL, source account, lead type, recent activity, qualification and client feedback.

WHAT I DID

Research locations and explain why each place fits a documentary concept and what could be filmed.

HOW I WORKED

Location discovery → relevance assessment → filming opportunities → source verification → shortlist.

WHAT IT SHOWS

Research writing, source documentation and structured content research.

Why I can fit into a research-heavy workflow

The examples in this portfolio span different industries, but the same working habits appear in every one.

SOP-driven — I can work inside defined criteria, fields, naming rules and workflows.

Detail-focused — I check URLs, sources, statuses, duplicates and required fields before handoff.

Manual QA — Tools can speed discovery; important records still need human checking.

Handoff-ready — A finished lead should be understandable and actionable without restarting the research.
